How to use our encoded materials (on-line purchase)

in order to use encoded AXcademy training materials, you need

- the training materials (files),
- a reader and
- license keys

Download the files

To download the files, use the links provided by your purchase in our online shop.

You can find the download links

- On the checkout screen, displayed immediately after your purchase and payment
- In the email sent to you after the checkout
- On AXcademy.com: My Account -> Orders (when logged-in)

The files

- can be opened on multiple devices (a license key must be entered at the first open on each device)
- expire after 999 days.

Download the reader

Download the Javelin reader using the link kortlink.dk/psge

- Select the reader suitable for your device (Windows PCs, Macs, Android and iOS devices).
- The reader is straightforward to use. In case of any questions about the Javelin reader, check out the User guides
    - Windows user guide: kortlink.dk/r5au
    - All user guides: kortlink.dk/r5av

Functionality includes document text searching, annotation, and markup etc., but not printing.

The license keys

You can find your unique license keys

- On the checkout screen, displayed immediately after your purchase and payment
- In the email sent to you after the checkout
- On AXcademy.com: My Account -> Orders (when logged-in)

Open the file in the reader

Open the file in the Javelin reader and provide your unique license key for access.

You can open the files on multiple devices (maximum 3).

Your unique license key must be entered at the first open on each device.

Final notes

We do understand that these measures might add a bit of trouble for you, compared to the use of uncoded files.

However, we have opted so in order to protect our IP and still make these materials available for you.

We hope for your understanding.
